

The Blackboard

News and views from Ms. McAdoo's 6th Class

Issue 2
October 2020

Upcoming Events

BOO!

- Mid-term begins - no school from 26 - 30 October.
- Hallowe'en is on the 31st October!

Family History project work completed recently....

Nature Trek - It's that time of year again!

By Faye O' Mahony

We went on the Nature Trek on Friday the 9th of October. It is this walk we do once a year. We went down the Regional Park and walked the paths for about an hour. When we got back we had a small party and watched a movie.

Leah Makes Her TV Debut!!!

Here Leah describes how it all unfolded...

'I saw a video of Patrick Horgan (Cork Hurler) doing a hurling skill and I decided to try it. The challenge was to do 30 bounces on both ends of the hurley. At first I couldn't even do one! But as I practised more I was getting the hang of it. I used a hurley with no grip because the sliotar could bounce off the edge of the grip and it would drop. I still did drop it loads but not as much as with a grip! When I got closer and closer to 30 I started videoing. It took me a whole day with the camera to get it! Eventually I got it and I was delighted I was able to do it!'

In this month's news I am going to tell you a little bit about an app called 'Tic Toc'. A lot of people already know about it but for those who don't here's some info.

So, Tic Toc originated from 'Musicy!'. On Musicy you put hand actions to music. In Tic Toc instead of hand actions you do comedy, dances, transitions, art, singing, sport, farming, beauty, fashion and much more.. It's an app where you can show off your talent.

On my account I dance because I love dancing., but others have other stuff. A lot of peeps have idols on Tic Toc, for instance Charli dmalio, Addison Rae - they're the most famous and make a lot of money.

That's all I have to say about Tic Toc it's only for fun!
by Zoe o' Mahony O' Connor

Our Interests are many and various!

Books, books, books...

Under the Hawthorn Tree
by Marita Conlan McKenna
Reviewed by Claire Lorole

'Under the Hawthorn Tree' is an amazing book about three siblings - Eily, Peggy and Michael during the Great Famine in Ireland. When their mother and father go missing Eily, Peggy and Michael set off to find their great-aunts they have only heard about.

There are two other books that follow called 'Wildflower Girl' and 'Fields of Home'.

Farming is not for everyone, you are either born with the gene or not. Farming is a tough life but like me many people like it. It is a good craic. Here are some quotes from the 'farmers' - first Colm Kennelly - 'Massey are the best and John Deers don't deserve all the popularity they have'. Next Stephen Mitchell, 'Don't walk into a field of cows with a fluffy hat!' and finally, Zoe O' Connor, 'John Deers are real bad yokes'.
That concludes my farming article.

Farming
by
Shane McSweeney

Art from a new angle!

Courtroom Drama

